MESSAGE FROM THE CEO

“At Lotus Bakeries, our values have always shaped who we are and how we operate. As we continue to grow in an ever-changing global landscape, it is more important than ever that we stay true to our commitment to ethical and responsible business conduct.

This revised Code of Conduct outlines the key principles that guide our decisions and actions and serves as a practical resource to help you navigate the complexities of today’s business environment. While it reinforces the ethical standards we’ve long upheld, it also reflects new expectations in areas that matter deeply to us — our people, our products, and our planet.

More than a set of rules, this Code represents a shared commitment — to one another, to our partners, and to the millions of consumers who trust our brands. It empowers each of us to act with integrity and confidence, in line with our TOP values: Team spirit, Open dialogue, and Passion.

I ask you to read the Code carefully, consider how it applies to your role, and speak up if you have any questions or concerns. Together, let’s continue to foster a culture where doing the right thing is simply how we do business.

Thank you for your continued dedication to our values and to the success of Lotus Bakeries.”

OUR VALUES

The true tastemakers are our people. United by a passion to work together, in an open and respectful dialogue, towards the same goal. Employees are expected to respect our TOP values as their guiding compass in all their actions and decisions:

TEAM SPIRIT

Each link in the process is equally important, from marketing through to production and packaging. It is essential to work as a well-oiled team. We work together every day to make Lotus Bakeries a success, in an inspiring working environment.

OPEN DIALOGUE

A listening, open attitude, proactive communication and respectful feedback are priorities in dealings with and between employees. This is put into practice via regular departmental meetings, use of internal communication platforms and promotion of two-way communication between employees.

CODE OF CONDUCT FRAMEWORK

CODE OF CONDUCT

The Lotus Bakeries Code of Conduct serves as the cornerstone for ethical business behaviour across all levels of the company. The Code consists of 5 chapters. Each chapter focuses on different aspects of our business conduct and includes clear guidelines, setting out the expected behaviour of Lotus Bakeries’ Representatives:

- Chapter 1: Making safe and qualitative products
- Chapter 2: Promoting a healthy work environment
- Chapter 3: Contributing to a sustainable future
- Chapter 4: Doing business with integrity
- Chapter 5: Safeguarding our company

Each chapter contains the general principles which should be understood by everyone. Employees can easily access the Code on our internal Policy Hub. Our Code is also published on our website to inform external stakeholders of our company’s rules of conduct.

Corporate Compliance is the owner of the Code of Conduct and ensures that the Code is appropriately communicated, periodic training is provided to employees and the Code is revised on a regular basis.

GROUP POLICIES

Our Code is supplemented by Group Policies which include more detailed guidance for employees in particular areas. Policies are specific to particular groups of employees and therefore employees are expected to only know and understand the policies relevant to their particular role. All Group Policies can be accessed centrally by employees via our Policy Hub.

Each policy is owned by (a) dedicated department(s). The owner is responsible to keep the policy up-to-date, ensure the policy is appropriately communicated to employees and, where needed, training on the policy is conducted for relevant employee groups.

CODE OF CONDUCT FOR SUPPLIERS

Lotus Bakeries expects its business partners to adhere to business conduct principles consistent with our own. Our expectations towards our key suppliers are outlined in our Code of Conduct for Suppliers which reflects the principles of our Code of Conduct.

WHO DOES IT APPLY TO?

All directors, officers and employees of Lotus Bakeries (hereafter “Lotus Bakeries’ Representatives” or “employees”) are expected to comply with this Code of Conduct. In this Code “Lotus Bakeries” or the “company” refers to Lotus Bakeries NV and any of its direct and indirect subsidiaries, together the ‘Lotus Bakeries Group’. Each Lotus Bakeries’ Representative receives this Code upon the start of their employment and must confirm that they have read and acknowledged the Code and agree to uphold the rules of conduct in this Code. The HR department is responsible for ensuring that the Code forms an integrated part of each employment agreement. Any updates to the Code are communicated by Corporate Compliance with the support of the HR department.

The principles in this Code of Conduct are translated to our Code of Conduct for Suppliers and specific provisions in contracts with our key business partners performing services for or on behalf of Lotus Bakeries (such as agents, consultants, key suppliers, distributors, contractors, etc.) to ensure equivalent standards are respected throughout our value chain. Upholding the rules of this Code of Conduct also means that Lotus Bakeries’ Representatives must act upon any breaches of our shared commitment to ethical business conduct by our key business partners.

LIVING THE CODE

Living the Code at Lotus Bakeries means putting our values into action every day and reaffirming our commitment to doing business responsibly and ethically. Living the Code is also a team effort. While the Code of Conduct and supporting Group Policies provide essential guidance, they cannot anticipate every possible situation — especially given the differences in laws across countries. In cases where specific situations are not expressly covered, Lotus Bakeries’ Representatives are expected to act in the spirit of the Code by applying sound judgment, common sense, and always complying with applicable laws and regulations.

WHAT IS EXPECTED FROM EVERYONE?

It is the responsibility of everyone to:

- Read, understand and respect the guidelines in this Code. If you are unsure of how to interpret these or have any doubts about whether specific behaviour meets the requirements, you must seek the advice of your manager or Corporate Compliance.
- Follow mandatory trainings on the Code of Conduct as required by Corporate Compliance.
- Immediately report actual or potential breaches of the Code or Group Policies, whether relating to yourself or colleagues.

WHAT IS EXPECTED FROM EVERYONE WITH PEOPLE MANAGEMENT RESPONSIBILITIES?

Everyone with people management responsibilities must:

- Lead by example, showing they are familiar with the Code and taking steps to embed a culture of ethical business conduct.

- Cooperate with HR and Corporate Compliance to ensure that all team members have read and acknowledged the Code and have completed mandatory trainings.
- Offer guidance and support about the Code to their team and escalate unresolved questions to Corporate Compliance.
- Ensure that anyone who raises concerns, or highlights potential or actual breaches, is taken seriously, the concern is addressed promptly and confidentially, and that there is no retaliation against the persons who raised the concern.

POTENTIAL CONSEQUENCES OF NON-COMPLIANCE?

Failure to comply with this Code of Conduct or any Group Policies may result in serious consequences for both Lotus Bakeries and/or involved Lotus Bakeries’ Representatives. These may include disciplinary actions such as a warning, suspension, dismissal or legal action. If illegal conduct is involved, this could additionally result in civil and/or criminal liability for the concerned employee and significant fines, regulatory investigations and damage to the reputation of our company.

REPORTING BREACHES OF THE CODE

If you have any concerns about potential breaches of the Code of Conduct or Group Policies, you must report to your line manager, Corporate Compliance or any other available reporting channel, as outlined in our Whistleblowing Policy. The Lotus Bakeries Whistleblowing line is available for online or phone based – and if desired anonymous – reporting of concerns and can easily be accessed via LotusLink or our company website.

CONFIDENTIALITY AND NON-RETALIATION

By speaking up, you give Lotus Bakeries the opportunity to review and act on the issue. We greatly value the help of all who speak up about potential concerns. To promote a true speak-up culture, Lotus Bakeries is committed to protecting the confidentiality of each report and ensure employees are not subject to any form of retaliation.

- Confidentiality: Lotus Bakeries always keeps the content of the reports confidential, including the identities of the reporter and anyone mentioned in the report. We only share the information on a strict need-to-know basis with a limited number of people and only disclose it outside this small group if we are required to do so by law or if an important public interest is at stake. You are expected to help us protect confidentiality by being discreet and not discussing your filed report with your colleagues or anyone else.
- Non-retaliation: If you have submitted a report in good faith, you will never be subject to any form of retaliation which causes or may cause unjustified detriment to you as a consequence of the report. Lotus Bakeries prohibits retaliation against employees who speak up in good faith or cooperate in investigations. Any form of threat or retaliation will not be tolerated and may result in disciplinary measures.

Our expectations towards our key suppliers with regard to respect for human rights standards are embedded in our Code of Conduct for Suppliers.

HEALTH AND SAFETY IN THE WORKPLACE

Lotus Bakeries is committed to offering a healthy and safe working environment. We aim to safeguard the physical and mental well-being of all our employees, contractors, and everyone connected to our company. We comply with all applicable local health and safety laws and regulations and take all necessary and reasonable steps to prevent accidents, injuries and illnesses. We maintain clear health & safety procedures and operating guidelines and perform regular inspections and training to reduce the risk of unhealthy or unsafe situations in the workplace. We monitor our health and safety performance through regular reporting and take corrective actions as needed. We support a health and safety culture that strives for zero accidents and zero fatalities while promoting an open dialogue about mental well-being in the workplace.

All Lotus Bakeries employees must contribute to this commitment by adhering to five key health and safety principles:

- 1. Report potential health & safety concerns: Creating a safe working environment is a team effort. Employees must report potential health & safety concerns immediately to their manager or their local health & safety officer. We also expect everyone to actively contribute to a safe working environment by addressing unsafe behavior when they see it. If you notice a colleague engaging in or being exposed to unsafe practices, we encourage you to speak up in a respectful and constructive manner. Creating a culture of safety is a shared responsibility, and open communication is key to preventing accidents and ensuring everyone goes home safely.
- 2. Protect yourself, your colleagues and your workplace: Follow all applicable physical protection measures in the workplace, including wearing protective equipment if and when required. Also protect your own mental well-being and the well-being of others by fostering an open dialogue and respecting moments of healthy disconnection and recharging.

- 5. Follow the rules: respect the applicable health and safety protocols in your workplace and encourage others to do the same.

Our expectations towards our key suppliers with regard to respect for health & safety standards are embedded in our Code of Conduct for Suppliers.

03 CONTRIBUTING TO A SUSTAINABLE FUTURE

- › Road to net zero
- › Sustainable sourcing

ROAD TO NET ZERO

Lotus Bakeries is committed to combatting climate change and continuously reducing our impact on the environment in all aspects of our operations, as well as our value chain. Road to net zero includes our ambition to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, optimize our energy usage and to limit the impact of plastic waste through packaging. Lotus Bakeries provides full transparency on its approach and performance in terms of its environmental impact. We publish our progress in our annual sustainability report in accordance with applicable regulations.

The following principles are the cornerstone of our road to net zero commitment:

- Reducing our carbon footprint:
 - We are dedicated to reducing our own greenhouse gas emissions by improving energy efficiency in our facilities, optimizing equipment usage, increasing the use of renewable energy sources, electrification of fossil-fuel driven equipment and optimizing usage of refrigerants.
 - We seek an open dialogue with our suppliers to achieve a reduction of carbon emissions throughout our entire value chain.
- Using sustainable packaging: We want to reduce what we use, design our packaging for tomorrow by ensuring our packaging is technically recyclable and aim for circularity while maintaining the highest product quality and food safety. Providing the right packaging format for each type of household will also contribute to the fight against food waste.

Employees are expected to support the implementation of our road to net zero roadmap within their area of responsibility. This goes from sorting waste over reducing water usage at the office to facilitating projects to reduce energy consumption or greenhouse gas emissions.

Our expectations towards our key suppliers with regard to environmental sustainability are embedded in our Code of Conduct for Suppliers.

SUSTAINABLE SOURCING

We aim to do business in an environmentally and socially responsible manner by promoting environmental and ethical sourcing throughout our entire value chain. In accordance with our own Code of Conduct, Lotus Bakeries expects its suppliers to aspire to the same minimum standards in their business operations, as outlined in the Lotus Bakeries Code of Conduct for Suppliers.

Lotus Bakeries is dedicated to:

- Endorsing compliance with all applicable local, national, and international regulations throughout our value chain, including but not limited to standards on human rights, environment, business ethics, labour practices and health and safety.
- Sourcing our key raw materials only from reputable suppliers who share the same values and commitments.
- Striving to generate a positive effect throughout our value chain, thereby helping to transform production practices in a way that has a positive impact on people, nature and the environment, and eventually contributing to a more robust global food system.

- Continuously developing programmes which help us to source all ingredients for our snacks in an environmentally conscious, socially responsible and economically viable manner, resulting in resilient and responsible supply chains, needed to improve animal welfare and biodiversity, avoid land degradation, prevent pollution, tackle social challenges, preserve water sources, enhance wastewater management and more.
- Providing formal channels where anyone can raise potential concerns such as the Lotus Bakeries whistleblowing line.

All employees are expected to:

- 1. Support the implementation of the company's sustainable sourcing programmes and promote an environmentally and socially responsible way of doing business throughout the entire value chain.
- 2. Endeavour careful selection of suppliers in accordance with the Code of Conduct for Suppliers.
- 3. Work collaboratively with our suppliers to identify and implement opportunities for improving sustainability throughout the supply chain.

04 DOING BUSINESS WITH INTEGRITY

- › Preventing bribery and corruption
- › Avoiding conflicts of interest
- › Fair competition
- › Trade sanctions and money laundering
- › Market abuse
- › Accurate records and financial reporting

PREVENTING BRIBERY AND CORRUPTION

Bribery and corruption distort competitive markets, increase the cost of doing business, and harm the communities where we do business. At Lotus Bakeries, we conduct business with integrity, honesty, and transparency. We have a zero-tolerance policy towards bribery and corruption and fully comply with international and local anti-corruption laws. Lotus Bakeries' Representatives must follow internal policies and procedures to prevent any involvement in bribery and corruption. Our expectations towards our key suppliers with regard to respect for anti-bribery and corruption standards are embedded in our Code of Conduct for Suppliers.

- Must never be used to improperly influence a business decision.
- Must be one-off or irregular in nature and the timing must be appropriate.
- When offering gifts and hospitality, gifts and hospitality expenses must be appropriately recorded and approved at the right level in line with local expense policies.

When offered a gift or hospitality which does not meet our standards, Lotus Bakeries' representatives must politely decline the offer, by referring to the company policy and the Code of Conduct. For gifts or hospitality involving public officials, you must always request prior clearance from Corporate Compliance via the employee compliance portal.

RECEIVING AND OFFERING GIFTS AND HOSPITALITY

Lotus Bakeries recognizes that gifts or hospitality can play a positive role in building relationships with business partners. However, as they can be open to abuse, Lotus Bakeries' Representatives must ensure gifts and hospitality always meet company guidelines:

- Must not fall in a prohibited category e.g. cash or cash equivalents (such as gift certificates, vouchers, lottery tickets, etc.), gifts which could create a conflict of interest or which are prohibited by local law.
- Must be appropriate to the business context and not excessive in nature.

FACILITATION PAYMENTS

- Facilitation payments are unofficial payments – in effect bribes – made to a public official to secure or speed up the performance of a routine action that the official is required to provide anyway e.g. paying a small amount to a customs officer to speed up the release of goods at a port or border, making a payment to a public health or safety inspector to issue a certificate more quickly, etc.
- You must never directly or indirectly (e.g. via suppliers, agents, distributors, intermediaries or anyone else) offer or make facilitation payments. When asked to pay a facilitation payment, politely decline and inform Corporate Compliance.

DONATIONS AND SPONSORSHIPS

- Lotus Bakeries supports charitable donations and sponsorships as a way of giving back to the community or promoting Lotus Bakeries' brands. Unfortunately, even legitimate donations or sponsorships may in certain circumstances be viewed as an attempt to buy influence for the benefit of Lotus Bakeries.
- To ensure central overview, all requests for in kind or financial donations and sponsorships must be handled by the respective General Manager of the country/area who must ensure they meet all policy requirements.

POLITICAL ENGAGEMENT

- Lotus Bakeries prohibits any kind of, whether direct or indirect, political contributions, whether in cash or in kind.
- Lotus Bakeries recognizes employees' individual right to participate in the political process, if they make clear that they do not represent Lotus Bakeries in the process and are not involved in any political decision-making process which could directly or indirectly benefit Lotus Bakeries.

AVOIDING CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

A conflict of interest arises when an individual's personal interests could potentially interfere with their ability to act in the best interests of Lotus Bakeries. If properly disclosed and managed, having a conflict of interest is generally not a violation of company policy or applicable laws. Many conflicts can be resolved or mitigated without issue e.g. by removing the conflicted person from the decision-making processes or reassigning duties or reporting lines.

At Lotus Bakeries, we distinguish four categories of conflicts of interest:

- 1. Personal relationships in the workplace e.g. involvement in any hiring, promotion, performance assessment, workload or rewards decision of a closely related person or other close personal relationship.
- 2. Outside employment: any paid or unpaid work outside Lotus Bakeries, even when you are on leave, including freelancing, working for a fee, commission, in exchange for services or other reimbursement, must always be approved by HR. Volunteering activities must not be submitted for approval to HR unless they could present a conflict of interest.
- 3. Financial interests e.g. use one's position at Lotus Bakeries for personal gain, such as awarding contracts that favor a personal business or the business of a friend or closely related person.

4. Other: use common sense to identify other potential conflict of interest situations. It is important in each situation to ask yourself the question if your personal interests might have an impact on your impartiality, or it could have such appearance.

Lotus Bakeries' Representatives must proactively disclose any conflicts of interest as soon as they become aware of them via the employee compliance portal.

A dedicated conflict of interest procedure exists for members of the Lotus Bakeries Board or Exco, as outlined in the Corporate Governance Charter.

FAIR COMPETITION

Lotus Bakeries believes in the value and benefits of a free marketplace. Fair competition encourages entrepreneurship and efficiency, creates a wider choice for consumers and results in an optimal price/quality balance. Lotus Bakeries conducts business with its customers, distributors, suppliers and competitors in compliance with applicable competition and antitrust laws which aim to prevent anti-competitive behaviour.

Employees, and in particular those who interact with our customers, distributors, suppliers and competitors, are expected to comply with the following guidance:

1. Always assess first if your business partner is also a competitor of Lotus Bakeries i.e. when you are offering similar products or services and competing for the same customers. Different rules apply when dealing with competitors than when dealing with non-competitors.

When dealing with competitors (which may include customers, distributors or suppliers who are also producing and offering similar products in the same markets!), you must respect the following rules:

- No price-fixing: Competitors have to determine their prices and all of its components independently. Never exchange information with competitors on planned price increases, recommended sales prices, discounts etc.
- No allocation of customers, territories or markets: Competitors should never agree to not actively compete with each other in certain markets or territories, or with respect to certain customers.
- No agreements on output limitations: Competitors have to decide independently which products they manufacture, how much capacity they need, when they want to do a market introduction, and at which price they want to sell.
- No coordination when bidding for a tender (bid-rigging): Competitors cannot agree with each other to interchangeably win or lose tenders.
- Never exchange commercially sensitive information such as future prices, volume, sales figures, costs, strategy, etc.

Do not engage in other forms of anti-competitive behaviour. If in doubt something could qualify as anti-competitive behaviour, please seek guidance from Group Legal.

2. Immediately end discussions with a competitor, supplier, customer, distributor or as part of trade association meetings if you are concerned that the discussion may violate competition law. Always ensure to actively distance yourself immediately from these discussions, have your objections recorded in the minutes (if applicable) and promptly inform Group Legal.

TRADE SANCTIONS AND MONEY LAUNDERING

Lotus Bakeries is an organisation which is active across the globe. We have corporate offices, sales offices and production facilities in many countries and our products are consumed and enjoyed around the world. Countries and international organisations, such as the UN, may impose restrictions on business dealings, including controls on export and financial transactions, targeting entire countries/regions or specific entities and individuals. Lotus Bakeries does not engage in any business dealings with countries or third parties which would be contrary to applicable sanctions, embargoes or export controls.

Corporate Compliance defines, communicates and keeps up-to-date the list of countries subject to sanctions, in line with regulatory developments. All employees must contact Corporate Compliance before engaging in any direct or indirect (e.g. via a distributor) business dealings with a link to such countries.

Lotus Bakeries does not tolerate, facilitate or support money laundering. Under no circumstances it deals with the proceeds of any criminal activities which could amount to the criminal offence of money laundering.

All employees must remain vigilant for potential unusual transactions or behaviour of third parties we work with, such as:

1. Requests to pay funds to a bank account in the name of a different third party or outside the country of their operation.
2. Requests to receive payments in a form outside the normal terms of business.
3. Receiving payments from bank accounts from a different country than the one where the third party is operating.
4. Receiving payments from third parties which are unknown to Lotus Bakeries and/or are not part of the contract.

MARKET ABUSE

While working at Lotus Bakeries, you may become aware of inside information about the company. Inside information is information in connection with Lotus Bakeries (and its affiliated companies) of a precise nature that is not publicly available and that – should it become publicly known – might have a significant effect on the share price of the Lotus Bakeries shares. Inside information is information about the company's plans or finances that has not yet been revealed to shareholders and that could give an unfair advantage to insiders if acted upon. Examples of potential inside information are financial results, pending partnerships or acquisitions, etc.

4. Spread false information or engage in other activities to manipulate the price of Lotus Bakeries' securities (market manipulation).

Lotus Bakeries maintains lists of employees and external persons who have authorised access to inside information or other critical information. Concerned persons are informed of their status by Corporate Compliance and are made aware of the additional obligations they must comply with, as outlined in the Lotus Bakeries Dealing Code.

ACCURATE RECORDS AND REPORTING

Lotus Bakeries maintains accurate and complete records across all areas of its operations. This includes internal documentation as well as financial, environmental, and tax disclosures provided to shareholders, regulators, and other stakeholders. Any inaccuracies, falsified entries, or misleading information — whether created directly or through the influence of others — may constitute fraud which could lead to serious consequences for both individuals and Lotus Bakeries. The company rejects all forms of fraud and any actions intended to mislead or misrepresent information to stakeholders.
